TWO ARE HELD FOR ROBBERY COTTAGES AT TREMPLEAU BAY

Men Alleged to Have Taken Wine from Caretaker of Rose and Kuehn Homes

William Harris, 23, of Centerville, Wis., and Edward Tracey, 22, of Winona, were identified at Winona by Peter Reinard, caretaker of two summer homes at Trempealeau Bay, as members of a party of four men whom he alleges forced him at the point of a gun to drink some doped wine and then took two kegs of elderberry wine from his cottage on May 31.

Harris and Tracey were taken to Whitehall for further investigation by Sheriff Ed Erickson and Deputy Sheriffs H. P. Theurer and John Frederick. Search for the other two members of the alleged liquor raiding party continues.

Reinard, who is 62 years old, was emphatic in his declarations that Harris and Tracey were in the party that visited him. Police apparently were satisfied that Reinard was correct in his assertions. Reinard takes care of the summer homes of George Rose of La Crosse and Louis Kuehn of Milwaukee.

"The men came up to my shack and asked for gasoline last Tuesday," said Reinard. "It was about 9 o'clock. I hunted around and found them some gasoline and then they said they had heard that I had some elderberry wine. I had made some elderberry juice for my own use, and as I wanted to get rid of them, I gave them a pitcher of wine."

"Then they wanted to buy some and I wouldn't sell it. I gave them a small jug to get rid of them and they told me they would come back the next night."

"The next night, Wednesday, they came and woke me up about 11 o'clock. They got me out of bed and said they wanted to buy some wine. They had a small bottle of something and asked me to take a drink. I did because I was afraid of them."

"We were sitting down and they asked me for my wine. Then one of them jumped up and put his hands over my face. Another one told me to put up my hands. I saw his gun. They showed me on to my bed and pulled my hat down over my eyes. Then they made me drink some of my own wine and pretty soon I didn't know anything. I woke up the next morning about 11 o'clock. I think the wine was doped."

Reinard's story came to light after neighbors notified police of the loss of an automobile tire and wheel the same night the men first visited Trempealeau Bay.

The men were arrested by Officers Bronk and Winkels Saturday night.

TWO OFFICERS OF MILWAUKEE GUARD ARE DISCHARGED WITH LOSS OF THEIR COMMISSIONS

MADISON, Wis.—Two officers of the Wisconsin national guard, First Lieut. Jesse E. James and Second Lieut. Alfred H. Becker of Battery A, 121st field artillery, Milwaukee, were discharged Tuesday with loss of their commission.

This action was taken by Adjutant General Orlando Holway after report of an efficiency board which found that Lieutenant James failed to report to the proper military authority that moonshine was being sold in the Whitefish Bay armory, and that he had struck a fellow officer as the result of a factional fight in the national guard company.

Lieutenant Becker, the board found, had engaged in an uncalculated pistol practice, by shooting at a knothole in the ceiling of the property room in the armory and that he had been a party to a factional fight. His discharge was recommended by the efficiency board.

The record of Captain Fred A. Fish, battery commander, will be investigated by Adjutant General Holway on further recommendation of the board which reported today. Evidence is said to have been presented that Captain Fish was aware that home brew was being sold at the armory canteen.

The investigation which resulted

SERVICE MAN MUST SERVE HEAVY TERM

MADISON, Wis.—The final attempt of Frank Sorenson, Milwaukee, wounded service man, to gain freedom from the fifteen-year sentence imposed on him after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of assault with intent to rob, was unsuccessful when Tuesday the supreme court affirmed the lower court sentence. Sorenson had claimed that his physical condition resulting from his war experiences caused him to commit the act for which he was sentenced to prison. A fifteen-year prison sentence was imposed on the man for entering a Milwaukee apartment while armed, having that apparent intention to rob, although no property was taken, and he fled when confronted by occupants of the building. Attorneys argued that the sentence was too severe.

INTRODUCTION OF BONUS BILL HELD UP BY M'CUMBER

Chairman too Busy With Tariff Bill to Complete Bonus Report

WASHINGTON.—The soldiers' bonus bill will not be presented in the senate for several days, it was said Monday at the office of Chairman McCumber of the senate finance committee. Senator McCumber has been so busy with the tariff bill which he is piloting in the senate, it was said, that he has not found opportunity to complete the report which is to accompany the bonus measure when it is presented.

Meantime the program with regard to senate consideration of the adjusted compensation measures remains very indefinite. Convicted legislation will lead to a long fight some republican leaders are strongly opposed to side-tracking the tariff for its consideration. On the other

In the two officers being discharged from the Wisconsin guard and the investigation of the battery commander was made by Colonel Byron T. Beveridge after a state prohibition officer had found liquor being sold at the Whitefish Bay armory.

Probe into the affairs of the battery showed, according to the report submitted to General Holway, that Lieutenant James had struck Lieutenant Becker when the latter was in uniform at the armory, that he had knowledge of moonshine being sold and failed to report, and that he was the head of a certain battery faction. It brought out that Lieutenant Becker had been guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer when he fired shots into the ceiling of the armory, and that he was head of a faction within the battery.

Adjutant General Holway said today that he is determined to punish any officer who permits the law to be violated in an armory.

THE PRINCE OF PEACE

For unto us a child is born, and the government shall be upon his shoulder; and his name shall be called, The Prince of Peace.—Isaiah, 9: 6.

Scientific Romance

FICTION and movies are all very well, but the real romance of the current day is to be found in the laboratories and workshops where science and skill grapple with natural obstacles and achieve miracles. For instance, it is a matter of news that Prof. E. Newton Harvey, of Princeton, has made the first progress yet recorded toward the production of light without heat. Professor Harvey has isolated the substance which permits the firefly and other insects and fish to emit cold light, and has found a way to activate this substance artificially by means of a catalytic agent so that it will produce the same light without the mechanism of the insects' or fishes' bodies.

When one thinks of the importance of light and power to mankind, of the painful, age-long research that has developed means of lighting without getting beyond the comparatively crude electric light we now have, one can begin to realize what a tremendous step forward this is, even though Professor Harvey has only produced this new artificial light on a laboratory scale. All light so far available to man is a by-product of the creation of heat. Heat is energy—power. Light exhausts enormous quantities of power that might otherwise be useful for other tasks. Science has for ages envied the peculiar secret of the firefly that produces light at will without heat. It is a success comparable with the achievement of the mythical philosopher's stone that Professor Harvey has scored, if the discovery develops as have other scientific inventions.

The first electric light was a feeble product of a laboratory experiment. So was the first telephone, the first telegraph, the first radio. There is no reason to doubt that research, having been shown the way by Professor Harvey's discovery of "luciferin" and how to actuate it artificially, will follow the same general process of improvement that made telephone, telegraph and radio every-day equipment for better living. Then we shall have better, safer light, and a greatly increased reserve of power for other practical uses.

For one man, unaided, to climb over the wall that has through all the ages kept inviolate this secret of nature, to make a breach through which the rest of us may follow to enjoy the hidden wealth and comfort inside—that is as great, as romantic an achievement, surely, as that of the great figures of other days who won fame and success with sword or pistol. In results it is greater. There never was a hero of romance who did half as much for his fellow-men with his hands as Professor Harvey seems to have done with his head. Romance, 1922 model, is more high-powered than that of ancient vintage.

Coming to Grips

THE contest for the republican nomination for United States senator promises to be one of the bitterest ever waged in Wisconsin. For the first time, the senior senator will not be the aggressor. For the first time it is his record, rather than that of his opponent, that is under fire. Bossism will be an issue in the campaign. The wets and dries will have it out. But so far as the senatorship is concerned these things will not be uppermost. Senator La Follette's war record will be the paramount issue.

This was inevitable in case of any opposition whatever to Senator La Follette's renomination. People knew that long ago.

That is one reason why many Wisconsin people hoped there would be no opposition to Senator La Follette's renomination. They knew that if there were a contest, and Senator La Follette won it, he would declare the voters had endorsed his war record. They preferred to let him be renominated by default, holding that having beaten no one, he could not claim vindication.

But the moment an opponent appeared against Senator La Follette the issue of his war record was automatically raised. And the moment it was raised, it had to be met. A default re-election of Senator La Follette accompanied by the reprimand of rejected state control might have been one thing. Default endorsement of his war record would certainly have been a very different thing. Wisconsin's critics have pointed accusingly to the war record of Senator La Follette. Thus far Wisconsin has replied by pointing to the state's splendid record in every sort of war service. But hereafter, upon this point, the world will point to the primary election of 1922. It will show whether, as a majority-ruled state, this commonwealth does or does not approve the war record of Senator Robert M. La Follette. We can not escape the verdict which we shall render. It will be with us to the last dawn of history.

And so, with this contention among us, there is little doubt that the later and hardly less important issues of bossism and law enforcement will be overshadowed. But, strategically, this may not be bad for the senior senator's opponents. For it will force those who publicly endorse Senator La Follette to do one of three things: to approve, to apologize for, or to condemn the senator's war record.

Obviously, this will give pause to many who for one or another reason might favor Senator La Follette. If they endorse his war record, they deliberately enter what nationalist-minded Americans would term the potters field of American politics. If they apologize for his war record, they do but damn him with faint praise. If they condemn his war record, they condemn him in the most important attribute of official trust.

And few if any of Senator La Follette's supporters are so stupid as not to realize that he alone could have borne his record without having been summarily driven from public life. They—none of them—could have survived, and those who lift his burdens now, though they may save him, forever close the door of political preferment in their own faces. Let one who doubts this search the records for an endorsement of Senator La Follette's war record by those of his more important followers in official life. Search the state house, the supreme and circuit courts. They knew! They know!

On the other hand, the sharp raising of the war issue will serve to compel many to take a stand against the senator, although they would have preferred, in view of his age and of some not forgotten public services, to have sent him back to Washington with his wings clipped by the defeat of the machine through which he has exerted political control of the state so complete as to render the primary law nothing more than the instrument with which he automatically endorsed himself and his decrees.

And so people launching into this campaign had better batten down the hatches. There is going to be a storm!

The head of the transgressor is hard.

It's a rocky road to get anywhere.

The Doctor Finds His Suit

BY JANE OSBORN

Dr. Godfrey Smith, commonly and affectionately known in Tilton as Dr. Godfrey, was counted among the men in that town who really needed a wife. His sister, Priscilla, lived with him under protest. It was only because she usually happened to select good servants that the doctor fared as well as he did.

She was always showing signs of carelessness and heedlessness of his requests. For instance, one morning at breakfast he spoke of the fact that as spring was well spent and summer was coming on it would be a good idea if Priscilla would see to it that Myra, the second maid, would brush his winter overcoat and suit and put them away in the cedar chest.

"They are hanging in my large closet," he said to Priscilla, who was deep in the morning paper. "And by the way," he added, "I stopped at the Dobbinses' last night. I had on my new gray suit. I think the Dobbinses have scarlet fever. So I hung it on the balcony off my room. Get James to take it to the hospital to be fumigated, when he's finished cutting the lawn."

That night Priscilla pounced upon her brother when he came in the living room from the wing of the house where he had his office. "We've had cards to the Blodget's for tea tomorrow afternoon," she said. "You know that very charming Hilda, their cousin from the south, is to be here. You remember how you admired her last autumn. I shouldn't in the least wonder if this tea party is being given for the express purpose of giving you a chance to meet Hilda again. You were very foolish not to have rushed her harder when she was here before. It's so seldom you see a girl in any way appeals to you."

"I can't say that she especially appealed to me," said Dr. Godfrey. He did not say, as he might have been in the mood for confessions, that the only woman who did appeal to him was young Mrs. Blodget herself. She was no older than Dr. Godfrey but, following her husband's death three years before, she had led so secluded an existence that few people in Tilton had thought of her as in any mood for marrying. Besides, she had two sons and a fortune—both of which might have stood in the way of Dr. Godfrey if he had not been so devoted an admirer.

"Be sure to look your best," went on Priscilla, thinking of the gushing cousin from the south as a possible sister-in-law, while Dr. Godfrey thought only of Mrs. Blodget, reserved and tantalizing.

Dr. Godfrey was sufficiently eager to follow out his sister's injunctions to look his best to go to the hospital early the next afternoon to get his gray suit. It has disappeared from the clothes bars on the veranda of his bedroom, so he assumed that it was at the hospital. But no one in the hospital had heard of it. "Well, it doesn't matter," smiled Dr. Godfrey. "Because the Dobbins children didn't have scarlet fever after all. But I had asked my sister to have my man bring it over, so I thought maybe it was here."

When Dr. Godfrey returned home his sister had already left the house for a round of calls to be paid before she arrived at the Blodget tea party.

"Do you know anything about that suit?" Dr. Godfrey asked the maid, with his usual patience.

"Indeed, I do," said the maid. "Miss Priscilla and I looked the things over. The overcoat and one of the suits we packed in cedar, but a couple of the suits Miss Priscilla had me take to the new second-hand store."

"The second-hand store?" said Dr. Godfrey in amazement.

"Don't get disturbed," assured the maid. "All the best people in Tilton are doing it. There is a new store just opened. It's a second-hand department store—shoes, suits, books, furniture, pans, everything. The rich sells their things to make a few dollars now and then, and the poor folks profit by it. Miss Priscilla said she'd been dying to sell some things there. All her friends were doing it as a lark. So she sold that old black suit and the gray—

"The gray suit out on the bars?"

The maid nodded. She said you said something about putting that away in the cedar chest, but as she didn't remember the suit, she supposed it must be awfully old, and if you weren't wearing it she might as well sell it."

Dr. Godfrey did not wait for further explanation. "Where's that store?" he called, and while the maid was still calling out directions he was making tracks for the front door.

It seemed imperative to Dr. Godfrey now that he should wear the gray suit to Mrs. Blodget's tea party. He had been foolish enough to let his supply of clothes run down. With his winter suits discarded he had only the shabby suit he now had on and the new gray one. He could never make love to Mrs. Blodget in the shabby suit and he had made up his mind that consideration for the departed Mr. Blodget could not possibly require that he keep the secret of his love any longer from the adorable widow.

He made explanations in the men's clothing department of the new second-hand store in very short order. "The suit was just sold," said the salesman. "A lady came to buy some things for the poor and carried it off with her. Much as an hour ago. She said it was very decent for the price we asked."

Dr. Godfrey Smith left the second-hand store in some dejection. He definitely wouldn't go to the tea party in the old suit. He couldn't buy a ready-made suit and wear that, because ready-made suits did not fit him. He boasted to himself that he did not have a ready-made build.

Thoroughly disgusted and feeling much out of patience with his sister, he made his way to the hospital. He had planned to take the rest of the afternoon off, but he would make some calls there that he had planned to put off till the following morning.

Just as he was going out of one of the wards into the office he fairly collided with the charming Mrs. Blodget herself. She was carrying something dark and bulky over her right arm.

"I hardly saw where I was going," said Mrs. Blodget. "I have such an awkward bundle. I'm going to see if the head nurse will have this suit fumigated."

Dr. Godfrey recognized at once his wandering spring tweed.

"But the Dobbinses didn't have scarlet fever," he explained, taking the suit from her arms. "I told Priscilla they did because at first I thought there was a chance that they did."

"You don't imagine that I have your suit?" said Mrs. Blodget with some hauteur.

"I am sure that you have," said Dr. Godfrey.

"I just bought it at the second-hand store. I have a poor family. I am interested in it. I wanted to get something for one of the sons who has just taken a new position. I thought I'd see if there was anything at the second-hand store. But one never knows where those things come from so I wanted to get it fumigated."

"It's all Priscilla's fault," said Dr. Godfrey.

"I sometimes think that Priscilla neglects you fearfully," said Mrs. Blodget, with eyes, dancing with amusement, focused square into the eyes of Dr. Godfrey.

Dr. Godfrey laughed with much embarrassment. "Would you very much mind if I kept the suit?" he said. "If you will let me take it, I will get the very best ready-made suit I can find in town for the poor young man in whom you are interested. You see, this suit fits me very well—rather like it, in fact, and it happens that I wanted to look as presentable as possible this afternoon. I have been asked to a tea party—"

Suddenly Mrs. Blodget's expression of habitual hauteur returned. "Oh, to be sure. I did ask you to tea. Pardon me for forgetting. I thought you and Hilda would want to meet again. You seemed so entertained with her. I am sorry about the suit. It was most amusing."

So saying, Mrs. Blodget, still maintaining her manner of hauteur, hurried off, leaving Dr. Godfrey a little nonplussed but in possession of his suit.

He spent no time trying to figure out the meaning of Mrs. Blodget's mood, but hastened home, and without waiting to get one of the maids to press out the wrinkles, donned his retrieved suit in place of the shabby one he was wearing and steered his course to the home of Mrs. Blodget. It was past the time set for the tea party, but Mrs. Blodget had only just arrived.

The role that was apparently expected of him—that of devoted follower of the gushing Hilda—Dr. Godfrey did not play. For a rather tiresome hour he took part in conversation that he tried to keep general, drank tea and listened to the loquacious Hilda. When his sister had left and he stood up to take his departure he said to Mrs. Blodget, still seated rather wearily beside her tea table:

"I want to make up to the young man you are interested in. Won't you come with me to select the sort of suit you think would do instead? If you will come with me now, we can get to the store before closing."

Perhaps it wasn't quite fair to get her alone with him in his car on false pretenses. But Dr. Godfrey had definitely decided to put off his proposal of marriage no longer. And when he had told her, with much falterings and many apologies, Mrs. Blodget's hauteur departed, never to return, at least as far as Dr. Godfrey was concerned.

"I fancied you were in love with Hilda," she said, "and the fact that I felt really jealous of her first proved to me that I really loved you myself."

LOWER RATES CAUSE SUDDEN REVIVAL OF TRAFFIC ON LAKES

Boats Fitting Out at Every Port, and Great Demand is on for Seamen

CLEVELAND, O.—With readjustment of rail rates followed by the establishing of vessel carrying charges on iron ore at 12-13 percent below the 1921 rates great impetus has been given to freight traffic on the Great Lakes during the past few days, according to local vessel owners. Boats are fitting out at every port and in such large numbers that indications point to a full fleet being in operation at an early period.

GUERNSEYS PUT UP HIGH SALE MARKS

Grant County Sale of 45 Head Nets
$240 on Average

LIVINGSTON, Wis.—The best average price made at any pure bred cattle sale in Wisconsin so far this year was made at the Guernsey sale held here. Forty-five choice offerings were consigned by Guernsey breeders of Grant county, and the lot sold for $10,750, or nearly $240 per head. The next best price made in the state this year was at a Holstein sale, an average of $235 per head.

Charles E. Wilkins, Plattville, secretary of the Grant County Pure Bred Guernsey association, himself received the top price of the sale on Cindrella, Daisy of Mount City, Dr. Wilson Cunningham bidding in this animal at $460. Homer Rundell of Livingston sent in Dolly of Linwood, who came away a good second, selling to J. R. Bell, Lake Geneva, owned by McLeod & Son of Union Hill, sold for $350. Several other cows sold at this price and very few under $200 per head.

PAPER MEN DEMAND CHANGE IN TARIFF

Say American Case in Production is Too Small and Tariff Has Boosted Price

WASHINGTON.—A formal protest against the senate's action in removing casing from free list in the tariff bill and making it dutiable at a rate of four cents a pound was presented Tuesday to the senate finance committee majority by a committee representing the coated paper industry. It was claimed that the senate action had resulted in an increase in the price of casing from ten cents a pound to 15 cents a pound. Martin Cantine of Saugerties, New York, speaking for the coated paper industry, said the proposed duty would rob America of the world's market for this paper. He contended that there was not enough casing produced in this country to meet the needs of paper manufacturers and that already foreign produced casing was being diverted to Germany because of price increases in the United States.

OKLAHOMA PASTOR BEATEN, HE SAYS

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla.—The Rev. Thomas J. Irwin, who resigned as pastor of the First Presbyterian church here recently after being charged with conduct unbecoming a minister, was attacked and beaten Monday night near this city, he said. Irwin would not talk about the alleged attack and few details were obtainable. County officials who went out in search of Mr. Irwin, when he failed to return to his home last evening, telephoned from the home of H. F. Wood, nine miles east of here, that they had found Mr. Irwin at the Wood home in a weakened condition. Most of Irwin's clothing had been torn from him, the officials said.

Women's Smoke Shop Puts Real Class Into Feminine "Fags"

BY MARION HALE
A smoke shop for women is New York's latest evidence of sophistication.

Thick gray velvet rugs, Chinese prints, lacquered furniture and stuffed davenport furnish the background for an assortment of smokers' supplies bound to please the most uncertain and coy of the sex.

When a woman was obliged to buy her weeds at the corner tobacco shop and, if she had inhibitions, murmur something about father or brother needing some, smoking had no standards, art or precedents.

For instance, it is not now good form to smoke cigarettes in evening attire unless you use a holder—and an evening holder at that.

If you are conservative and have just one evening holder, the smartest thing you can get is the long, slender holder of black, with a tiny ring of rhinestones an inch from the end. Second to the black in favor is a smaller holder of genuine amber with a band of jewels, ebony or tortoise shell.

But the smart thing is to have your holder exactly match your gown. You take a sample of all your evening frocks and have a holder of mother of pearl tinted to match each one.

The length of the holder is very important and is determined by your general longitude and latitude.

For daytime, you have a greater selection. For one thing, you can take your incisors, without a holder if you like—it's done. But don't mind if your teeth and fingers take on a nice rich ochre tint.

Or you may smoke a small briarwood pipe that is very snappy. You buy your tobacco in ornate little two-ounce packages.

The painted wooden or glass holder, in all colors and in all figured effects, sometimes wildly futuristic, is nifty for sports wear, but the business woman who puffs away at her desk will find something dark and serviceable in better taste.

In cigarette you may stick to the advertised and conservatively priced brands, or you may have your own particular blend, made up specially for you, monogrammed, tinted and gold banded.

If you are in mourning, you will find a black cigarette in keeping with your costume. If you want to look interesting, you will probably fancy the long Russian cigarettes. At your luncheon parties you will pass a large box of vari-colored cigarettes that the color cravings of all your guests may be satisfied.

Mrs. E. A. Cassidy and Miss Harriet Douglas, who operate the "Lady Nic" shop, copied their shop from the English idea.

"Before starting I visited the smart smoke shops for women in London. I learned all I could about tobaccos and blends and wrappings. Now I rarely smoke because I have to keep my taste keen so that I may judge accurately the new blends—I'm in the position of a tea taster, you see."

"Who but a New Yorker would have thought of such a place?" I said, and she replied: "I am from Kansas City, Mo., and my partner is from Philadelphia. We do as much business with women from the west and middle west as we do with New Yorkers. Women in New York smoke more openly, but they don't smoke any more than your women from Omaha or Portland. Everybody's doing it now."

Systematic Accumulation
"How did prices get to be so high in the first place?" inquired the plain citizen.
"Well," replied Mr. Dustin Stax, "the more profit you made the more surtax you had to pay and the more surtax you had to pay the more profit you had to make."—Galesville Republican.

Outer Beauty—Inner Strength

Beneath the beauty of a skyscraper stands a skeleton of steel—hidden, yet holding the great structure together for all time.

Under the waterproof surface of Flex-A-Tile Giant Shingles lies a base of genuine Richardson felt—hidden, yet giving tensile strength without which surface beauty cannot last.

The best obtainable materials, and all the skill of more than 50 years' experience are built into every piece of Richardson felt. Scientific manufacture is primarily responsible for the long life of Flex-A-Tile Roofing.

This superfine felt is first thoroughly saturated with natural asphalt; then asphalt-coated on both sides. That is why Giant Shingle roofs offer perfect resistance to heat, cold or moisture from above or beneath.

FLEX-A-TILE HOUSE TOPS

Outer beauty is added to this inner strength by a layer of genuine slate from our quarries at Flex-A-Tile, Georgia. The rich, natural green of this special slate blends beautifully with any surroundings and any type of architecture. It cannot be imitated, because nature produced it and age has mellowed it.

Flex-A-Tile Giants give to a roof, whether new or old, an appearance of strength and permanence that adds to the beauty of the entire house. And they are best adapted for laying right over the old roof covering than any other type of asphalt shingles.

COMMENCEMENT AT HIGH SCHOOL WILL BE ON THURSDAY

Pleasing Events Mark Graduation of Class at Local School this Week

SEVERAL ENTERTAINMENTS ARE GIVEN BY THE SCHOOL

Picnic Supper for Graduates and Faculty Tonight

The high school is again in the midst of the semi-annual commencement festivities, this being the forty-eighth season.

This semester's activities opened with a party given for the graduating class by the advanced junior class in the Hixon gymnasium on Saturday evening, May 27. This pretty party was a fitting close for the successful year's work of the social committee, consisting of parents, teachers, and students. The teachers of this group, Misses Agnes Hayes, chairman, Edna Wagoner and Lily Seicstad, were in this event ably assisted by Elmer Hargett, Mildred Metcalf, Elton Salzer, Marion Holze and Catherine Grams.

On Friday, June 2, came the two performances of the class play, "The Dissembler's Dream." Only one before has a Shakespeare play been attempted by a graduating class and this was several years ago when under the direction of Mrs. Alice Green Hixon "As You Like It" was given. This time two performances were held, a matinee for the children and teachers of the seventh and eighth grades of the public and parochial schools of the city and an evening presentation attended by a large and appreciative adult and high school audience.

The group of nobles headed by the Duke of Athens, Placidus Leander, and his Queen Hippolyta, Miranda Guelcher, carried their parts admirably. Much merriment except the audience at every appearance of the group of comedians led by Bottom, the weaver, Ben Edwards, Bottom, playing as Pyramus and the fellows under John Ray acting the part of the group in a performance complimentary to the Duke provoked the La Crosse audience into loud laughter. The lovely imaginative quality of the play was well interpreted by Oberon, Leona Ott, and Titania, Lois Myers, the King and queen respectively of the faerie.

The lively acting of Lilian Bitter was truly professional in the most difficult role of Puck, the mischief-maker and messenger of Oberon. The light and graceful dancing of the faerie and the sweet voices of their other sisters, Dorothy Frizzell, Charlotte Grams, Lois Woods and Nina Shields contributed a pleasing charm to the presentation. The accompanying Mendelssohn music played with ability by the High School orchestra, led by Miss Stella Trane, added much to the delight of the evening. To Miss Adeine Briggs is due the success of this unusual production. She not only acted the part wisely but directed the presentation with real artistic ability.

Baccalaureate Service

The baccalaureate service was held on Sunday afternoon in the High School auditorium. Rev. Carlos Rowson gave a helpful address, basing his remarks on the Master's parable of the sower and the seeds. Pleasant music was furnished by Alfred Rodese, who played a violin solo and by a chorus of graduating girls.

On Monday evening the class night entertainment was presented by the graduating class under the leadership of Miss Margaret Smith, chairman, and Messrs. Lester Pierce and Burton Smith.

Exercises Thursday

On Thursday evening June 8, at 8 o'clock, will be held the commencement exercises when the following program will be given. After the program a reception will be held in the Hixon gymnasium in honor of the graduating class. To this their guests are cordially invited:

Father of Victory, Ganne—High School orchestra.

A Quick Thinker

"You didn't wink at this young woman."
"No, your honor. Some foreign substance got into my eyes and made me wink. It was really suffering."
"But she also says you smiled at her. How can a man smile at a pretty girl when his eye is giving him great pain?"

"Your honor, where the fair sex is concerned I have Spartan courage."
"Umph! I doubt if you have Spartan courage, but your mental alertness impresses the court. I'll assess a nominal fine of $5."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

BUSINESS WOMEN'S ANNUAL PICNIC IS DELIGHTFUL OUTING

A MERRIER PARTY never enjoyed an outing than did the members of the Business Women's club at its annual picnic at the Y. W. camp Monday night. It was the "third annual" for the club at this ideal place, and has been anticipated with much pleasure for weeks. Nearly fifty were in attendance, motoring out for supper, which was thoroughly enjoyed on the porch and the grounds.

Following an appetizing supper the annual reports were read, which were highly encouraging. The club is growing in numbers and activities and much interest is manifested in the scope of its undertakings. After the reports, the election of officers took place as follows: President, Mrs. Cora Wright; vice president, Miss Mary Devine; secretary, Miss Grace Gaden; treasurer, Miss Anna Mashek; directors for two years, Miss Dora Marshall and Miss Sylvia Kelly; directors for one year, Mrs. Addie Phillips and Miss Pudence Cutright. It was with prevailing regret that Miss Carrie Marshall retired from the office as president, which she has held for two years, the last by election and the last as acting president, filling a vacancy. Miss Marshall has been not only very popular but has been instrumental in undertaking some splendid work during her term of office, putting through much that was advantageous to the club, putting it on a footing with other organizations of the state and at all times interesting the members in activities and work that seemed best to undertake. Miss Nona Lancaster, recently of Lancaster, Pa., was a guest of the club.

THE MEMBERS of the La Crosse Women's club will hold its annual picnic at Copeland Park Wednesday. The families of the members are invited.

THE LADIES' AID Society of the North Presbyterian church meets Thursday at the church parlors. The hostesses will be Mesdames L. W. Jojude, C. J. Schomers and H. Hanson. This is the last meeting of the season and it is hoped that there will be a full attendance.

THE MEMBERS of the Music Study club with their husbands were entertained Monday by Prof. and Mrs. G. M. Wiley at the former home of Mrs. Wiley, the beautiful Captain Arnold home at Galosville, at a picnic.

CLASS PLAY AT NORMAL SCHOOL GIVEN MONDAY

Capacity House Greets "A Prince There Was", in the Auditorium

Playing to a capacity house, the senior class play of the normal school, presented Monday night in the normal school auditorium, scored an instant success. The vehicle chosen for presentation was the well known New York hit, "A Prince There Was," in which George M. Cohan achieved fame on Broadway. The work of the entire cast was exceptionally well done, showing the results of patient study and efficient coaching. A painstaking regard for the small details of the play served to make the offering go smoothly throughout, with none of the breaks and hitches often found in amateur productions.

The big feature of the play was the splendid portrayal of the character of Comfort an orphan child being reared in a cheap New York boarding house. This part was taken by little Geraldine Leveille of Winona. The little miss is an excellent actress, having a good stage presence, seemed at all times to be acting naturally, and always well at ease.

Larry Engelhard appeared in the leading male role of Charles Martin, a nice young man who is disgusted with life, but who regains his interest through the agency of Comfort. Mr. Engelhard appeared to very good advantage in his part, his impersonation exciting much favorable comment.

Jack Caruthers, owner of the Excelsior Magazine, was in reality George Gunderson. He appeared effectively as the well meaning friend of Charles Martin.

George Goring's excellent interpretation of the difficult character part of Blind Martin's valet and friend, was a surprise and a delight to the audience.

Playing opposite Mr. Engelhard was Miss Doris Fredericksen, as Miss Woods, an authoress, object of Martin's benevolence. Miss Fredericksen was effective in her role, displaying a charming and winsome personality.

As a harassed keeper of a New York boarding house, Mrs. Prouty, Vivian Lewis was a huge success. Her shrill voice, clever make-up and oily terms of endearment contributed greatly to the interest of the play.

The burden of carrying the heavy part of the comedy fell upon the shoulders of Sam Ertter and Violet Stewart, as Short and Gladys Prouty, respectively. Their interpretation of their difficult roles as well as their costuming, kept the audience near to tears of joy whenever they were upon the stage, and their exit each time was a signal for hearty applause.

Another difficult character part was capably filled by Philip Vain, who appeared as Cricker, an old lawyer who, though he had little enough himself, was continually doing good turns for others. Janet Conklin appeared to advantage as Miss Vain, a quiet, reserved sort of girl, one of Mrs. Prouty's boarders, while Lucy Jarock was the efficient stenographer in the office of the Excelsior Magazine. Beatrice Hager was a typical maid of all work in a New York boarding house. William Schwarz took the part of the messenger boy.

Wilfred Pufflin was the business manager of the play. Walter Rans was in charge of seating and Ferd Engeke was stage manager.

TROPICAL GARDEN IS BLOOMING ATOP THE LINKER SHOP

A tropical garden is in bloom these days in the heart of the downtown section. Anton Linker has built a garden of blooming plants atop the Linker floral shop in the majestic theater alley. It makes a gorgeous sight from Main street. There are rubber and palm trees in the background while along the edge of the roof are boxes and vases of blooming plants. Poinsettias, geraniums, verbenas, fuchsias and daisies nod their heads to the passing show of Main street while from the boxes and vases trail long streamers of vinas vine.

STRIKE ADVERTISING LAW IS UPHELD BY THE SUPREME COURT

Require Employers to Give Facts When Seeking Men to Break Strikes

MADISON, Wis.—The Wisconsin supreme court Tuesday upheld constitutionality of the state law which requires employers advertising for labor when a strike is in effect to state that fact, in deciding the case against the Biersack and Neidermeyer company of Milwaukee. Justice Doerflinger in his opinion, which was concurred in by other justices without dissent, said that courts must take notice of the fact that strikes and lockouts are often accompanied by violence and that the legislature in enacting the statute under consideration had taken notice of that fact by requiring employers to tell of labor trouble in advertising for workers.

MILWAUKEE MAIL BOMB FROM CHICAGO

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Chicago was the point of origin of the supposed bomb which exploded in a baggage car at the union station Sunday, injured one man badly and endangering others, according to David Evans, head of the Milwaukee office of the railway mail service.

Mr. Evans said that investigation indicated that a can found after the explosion, which evidently had been in the parcel post package which exploded had contained the explosives. This was indicated, Mr. Evans said, by the fact that a hole had been blown in the can.

Investigation of the case was delayed by the fact that Mr. Evans was unable to get in touch with the clerk who had charge of the transfer of mail to the baggage car.

ASK DECORATIONS DOWN TOWN

In greeting to 1,000 delegates coming to attend the Luther league convention Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday and to 15,000 visitors expected here for the big program Sunday, merchants of the city were asked to decorate their business houses with the national colors before Wednesday night.

This is the first time that La Crosse has had opportunity to play host to a big national convention and it promises to be an epochal event in the history of the city. The Luther college band and the St. Olaf choir, two famous musical organizations, will give concerts during the convention, and three governors will be here to address the open air meeting in Myrick park Sunday afternoon.

Miss Russell's debut with the Pastor forces was on Feb. 3, 1881, in the "Pirates of Penzance." Within a few weeks she was a star of the first magnitude.

It is a matter of unique history that Miss Russell had been singing at Pastor's for a week before her mother or other members of the family were aware of the fact.

With Weber and Fields
Miss Russell sang in the Casino theater until 1899. She was with Weber and Fields' company for several years and later joined the McCaul opera company. In this company she was the prima donna until her own company was organized.

With that company she started in various roles in America and Europe and later turned to vaudeville. During a later period she traveled and lectured.

It was soon after her first entry to the stage that Miss Russell met and married Harry Braham, musical director of the "Pinafore" company. In 1885 she had divorced Braham and while she was appearing in "The Sorcerer" she married Edward Solomon, musical director of the Casino orchestra.

Following her divorce from Solomon she was married in 1894 to John Chatterton, known professionally as Signor Perugini, a tenor, with whom she sang. She married Alexander P. Moore, Pittsburgh publisher, in 1912.

Lillian Russell's last appearance on the stage was in Chicago four years ago when she was engaged for the Chicago run of one of Raymond Hitchcock's "Hitchy Koo" shows. At the end of the Chicago performances she returned to her home in Pittsburgh.

Come to Think of It

DEAD JUSTICE IS AUTHOR OF MEMORIAL TO JUSTICE KERWIN

MADISON, Wis.—An unusual situation appeared in the Wisconsin supreme court on Tuesday when E. J. Dempsey, Oshkosh, presented the memorial of the bar association to the late Justice James Kerwin, Neenah, who died about a year ago. Following the presentation of the memorial Justice Vinje read the response, which he read and then prepared by the late Chief Justice R. D. Siebeker. Judge Siebeker has been dead for two months but his memorial to his dead friend will be embalmed in the records of the court.

A memorial to the late Justice Luse of superior was presented to the court by Judge Steel. The response was made by Chief Justice Vinje. The court then took a recess until two o'clock as a mark of distinction to the late Justice Marshall, who died three weeks ago.

PAYING COST TO PROPERTY OWNERS LESS BEFORE WAR

Cameron avenue, Wood street and others.
"The estimate of our former engineer for the same kind of pavement under the newly adopted plan for construction in 1922, places the cost to abutting property owners where only grading, curb and gutter and concrete base, is assessed, at $2.18 per foot or fourteen cents per lineal foot higher than the average paid by the property owners for the same improvement made prior to the abnormal advance in construction costs.

"Therefore under the old plan of assessing full cost to abutting property at the present high prevailing prices would work a grave injustice to property owners on streets now proposed for improvement and would result in the property owner in 1922 paying for new pavement at least two times as much for the same kind of work as did the property owner pay when prices were normal.

The new plan in its practical application, places the increase cost as an obligation of the city as a whole and does not make it any easier for the present property holder on streets to be improved than it was for property holders on streets improved five years ago.

"ARTHUR A. BENTLEY, Mayor."

ATLANTA, Ga.—The novel experience of a husband serving on a jury that granted his wife a divorce has just been brought to light here in the case of Mrs. Sara M. power of the former under the new wages would be 18.8 percent greater than in 1917 and the latter would be able to buy 45.7 more with the new pay than with the 1917 rate.

The decision declared it believed the wages fixed to be just and reasonable. Suggestion for "some recognized standard" to be worked out by the board and used as a basis for future wage adjustments was contained in the minority report which consumed several times the number of pages of the majority decision. Labor members felt, they said, that the board "should initiate a study which shall determine the amount necessary to meet some recognized standard and that it must use its results as a basis for its decisions and that it must through those decisions, transmit this information to the public."

Jewell Predicts Trouble

CINCINNATI, O.—By the Associated Press.—New wage reductions for shopmen ordered by the railway labor board Tuesday, can but intensify the present feeling of dissatisfaction with railway labor conditions and will at least result in an immediate strike vote, returnable June 30, according to B. M. Jewell, head of the shop crafts unions, here today for a railroad strike conference.

While refusing to comment on the decision until he had seen a copy, Mr. Jewell declared any reduction at present was wholly unjustified and unreasonable.

Machinists to Take Strike Vote

WASHINGTON.—H. L. Brumson, special representative in Washington of the International Association of Machinists, declared Tuesday that a strike vote would immediately be taken among the 400,000 machinists affected by the decision of the railroad labor board reducing wages. Mr. Brumson said that the decision was regarded by association officials as unjustifiable and that the attitude of the workers should be ascertained without delay.

Mr. Brumson asserted that in taking the strike vote various other phases such as lease work, farming out work, etc., would be touched upon.

Proposed Question is Declared Ineligible to Place on Ballot

WINONA, Minn.—The proposed referendum in Winona on the beer and wine question authorized by the city council several months ago to be held in connection with the primary election June 19 has been abandoned. It was announced Tuesday. The abandonment followed an opinion by Assistant Attorney General Pratt, that "the proposed question is not one authorized to be submitted at the June primary election on either the regular or special ballot." The opinion was given in response to a request for information by the county attorney.

SECRETS ARE WORTH MUCH

In truth, they do die there, but not until they are very old. The country is Madagascar, or more exactly, Antanarivo, the capital situated in the middle of the island on a rock crowning a small plain belonging to the plateau of Imerina. According to Dr. Estrade, the colonial physician, and there is no reason for not believing him—the birth rate at Antanarivo is extremely high and the mortality is surprisingly low.

These Malagasays are a happy people. "But could we not," asks the Paris Figaro, "get from them their two beautiful secrets: That of the numerous births and that of longevity? They would render us greater services than all the laws on depopulation and the bounties and other encouragements which the state gives to the parents of large families."—La Crosse Weekly Review.

JAP CABINET OUT; SPLIT IS LAID TO PARTY DISSENSION

Regent Summons Elder Statesmen to Discuss Formation of New Government

TOKIO.—By The Associated Press.—The regent to the throne summoned Tuesday the elder statesmen for a consultation on the subject of a successor to Premier Takahashi, who with his cabinet resigned early Tuesday morning.

The statement was given out that the cabinet's resignation was not based on any political issue, much less on the ministry's foreign policy, but was due entirely to a divergence on the question of the reconstruction of the cabinet itself.

Tokugoro Nakahashi, minister of education, and Minister of Communications Motoda, have been expelled from the Seiyukai, the government party, which holds them responsible for the downfall of the cabinet. The two ministers yesterday refused to resign when requested to by the premier who had been empowered to reorganize the cabinet as he saw fit.

POPULARIZED BY WAR

It is a curious coincidence that margarine, which was made so popular during the Franco-Prussian war, should have been popularized in this country and England by the great European war. In the lean years of 1914 to 1919 it advanced from use by the very poor into an article of very wide consumption.

The history of this product and the manner in which it received its name, dates back to 1913, when a French chemist—Chevreul—wishing to give a name to an acid he had discovered while working on fats, called it Margarie, after the Greek word for pearls. He chose this name because certain fatty scales, released during the course of his experiments, looked like pearls.

In 1868 the French government offered a prize for the best cheap substitute for butter. A scientist named Siege-Mouries treated the newly-killed fat of animals (which gives off this margarine acid) and mixed it with real butter and milk, obtained a passable butter substitute which gained the prize. This margarine, oleo, as it was called, received an enormous advertisement a year or two later, when, during the siege of Paris in the Franco-Prussian war, it was eagerly adopted by the starving population.

Its first use in this country was about 1880, when it was generally known as butterine, or "Dutch butter." But such titles naturally excited the opposition of the butter trade, and legislation was introduced to regulate the manufacture of oleomargarine. The use of any name which might lead the purchaser to confuse margarine with butter was forbidden.

Since it was found that enormous herds of cattle would have to be slaughtered to provide the animal fat needed for the original margarine, various vegetable oils are today employed.

WHY GOLDFISH LEAVE HOME

A distinguished doctor of Germany went to some considerable expense to build a pond on his lawn to accommodate a rare collection of goldfish. But after a time he was perplexed to note that a great many of his finest specimens had disappeared. At first he suspected cats but the fishes proved an alibi and the fishes seemed to leave right under his eyes. In the endeavor to solve the problem he had an all-night watch set upon the pond and at daybreak the watchman was astounded to see a kingfisher dart from a neighboring tree and plunging into the pool come up with a goldfish which proved to be the bird's breakfast. But the doctor was as much love for the birds as he was for the goldfish and rather than shoot the bird he rolled up his fish-pond and took it indoors.

Bancroft Makes Statement Retracting Remarks Upon Which Suit Was Based

MADISON, Wis.—The last of the five suits started over the Bancroft-Smailley judgeship contest, over a year ago was wiped from the records of the Richmond county court this week. The last suit was one brought by Miss Ada James, Richmond Center, president of the Wisconsin Progressive Women's League, against Judge Bancroft alleging slander. This suit has been dropped as the result of a statement filed by Mr. Bancroft. In this statement he says:

"Since the alleged speaking of the words charged he has investigated the rumor upon which they were based and has satisfied himself that said rumor was false in fact and that he made this statement because he believed that justice both to himself and plaintiff demands that it shall be made."

Upon the defeat of Judge Bancroft, he started an action against Judge Smailley. Judge Smailley won. The action against R. P. "Bigotry and intolerance are a menacing plague that will soon eat into the vitals of this country's institutions, if not opposed and beaten back everywhere."

Saving and Serving

THE Standard Oil Company (Indiana) stands squarely on the principle that the man who saves and invests is a better citizen as well as a happier and more useful employee than the one who lives "from hand to mouth" and spends his income as fast as he earns it.

To promote the habit of saving, and to insure that feeling of security in the future, which frees a man's mind from worry, enabling him to give all his energy to creative activities, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) a year ago put into effect, for its employees, a stock investment plan.

Under this plan an employee may save as much as 20 percent of his yearly wage. To every dollar thus saved the Company adds 50c. This money is invested in stock of the Company as fast as sufficient money accumulates to buy one share; for instance, if a man or woman saves $360.00 a year the Company adds thereto one-half of that amount, or $280.00, which will buy 10 shares at the established price for 1922.

Whether or not he takes advantage of this plan is optional with the employee. The fact, however, that the majority of the employees who have been with the Company one year, or more, have availed themselves of the opportunity is convincing evidence that the plan meets a definite need.

Since the plan went into operation it has been apparent that the employees take a greater interest, not only in the work which engages their attention, but what is more important, in the service the Company renders the public.

This is not surprising, for a man with money invested has a stronger interest in a business, and a keener appreciation of his value to the community than a man who never has assumed this responsibility.

Therefore, this stock investment plan for employees of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is an important factor in continually improving the service rendered the public by the Company.

It is but another evidence of the care and forethought exercised by the management in its endeavor to perfect an organization which shall render to the public a maximum of sustained service.

SHATTER ALL BUT TWO RECORDS IN STATE TRACK MEET

Milwaukee Has Little Difficulty in Winning Meet; Top Locals by 20 Points

BY BOB DUNN
Shattering of records featured the annual normal school track and field meet held at Camp Randall last Saturday. During the competition between the seven normal school representatives, track and field records were surpassed or equalled in all but two events on the afternoon's program.

Showing unusual strength in the dashes and distance races, Milwaukee had little trouble in topping the meet, winning over La Crosse by a margin of 20 points.

The feature event of the meet was the two mile run in which Ellison of Milwaukee negotiated the distance in 16:04 2-5, more than 23 seconds faster than the former record set last year. Ellison took the lead at the start and made a pretty sprint during the last 150 yards.

SOIL MANNA OF NO ESPECIAL BENEFIT REPORTS U. OF W.

MADISON, Wis.—Experiments by the state department of agriculture and by the Michigan experiment station show that little if any benefit is derived from the use of Soil Manna, a widely advertised fertilizer, the Wisconsin department announced Tuesday.

"The Wisconsin department of agriculture believes if a fertilizer is not lacking in uniformity that its composition cannot be guaranteed, that a farmer is taking an unwarranted gamble in buying it," the statement says. "Careful field experiments by a disinterested party failed to show any benefits from the use of this product on different types of soil."

"U" OF WASHINGTON WORKING OUT DAILY FOR BADGER RACE

Washington Crew to Leave for Races on Hudson After Event on Saturday

MADISON, Wis.—The University of Washington crew is now having daily work-outs on Lake Mendota preparing for the race with the Badgers next Saturday afternoon. The race will be over the full three mile course. Two weeks ago the Badgers set a new national record in the mile and a quarter when they defeated the University of Manitoba by a quarter of a length in 5:37 and 2-5 seconds.

The Washingtonians will leave for the eastern races on the Hudson after meeting the Badgers. Wisconsin has not been represented on the Hudson since 1912 when crew racing was banned by the faculty. Since it is now formally re-instituted the students plan a campaign to send the Badgers this year if they defeat the University of Washington which has been hoped to be the strongest entry in the eastern races.

RUEDIGER NAMED CAPTAIN BADGER BALL TEAM IN '23

Fountain City Lad Member of Badger Squad for Two Years

BY BOB DUNN
George Ruediger of Fountain City was named captain of next year's Wisconsin baseball team at a meeting of the team following the Chicago game on Saturday.

Ruediger who is a junior has been playing on the team for two years and starred on the frosh squad in his first year at Madison.

His playing at third base for Wisconsin has been consistently of a high class and he can always be depended upon to hit the ball in the pinches. Ruediger's fielding was a powerful force in the defensive play of Coach Lowman's team for the past two years.

Ruediger succeeds Captain Forrest Paddock, pilot of this year's squad.

Following the last contest Coach Lowman recommended the following players for their letters: Paddock, Hoffman, Barry, J. Williams, R. Williams, Comebacker, Pickett, Elhott, Ruediger, Caesar, Christianson and Dugan.

LA CROSSE NEWS COMPANY COPS IN SECOND LEAGUE CONTEST MONDAY

One Bad Inning for Reimans Nets Newsboys 7 Scores; Smevog Tapped for Ten Blows In Game

The La Crosse News company won its second league game Monday afternoon at Copeland park, defeating the Reimans by a score of 10 to 4. The game was played under protest of the Reimans who held that the News company appeared nearly an hour late.

Smevog had one bad inning, the fourth, when after two walks in succession, the Newsboys started pounding the pellet and when the side was finally retired seven scores had been long up. The Newsboys gave Newman good support throughout the contest. Newman was the heavy hitter of the winners, batting a 1000 in three times up.

The News company made two pretty double plays, Bateman to Saltz to Putasky and Wartinbee to Saltz to Putasky. The game was called at the end of the sixth on account of darkness.

The score by innings:

I don't know whether it is the additional weight or the different arrangement but, satisfactory as was the old razor—I should say razors for I own several of them of different models—the new one is so superior that I would not part with it, unless I knew where to get another exactly like it.

With appreciation, I beg to remain
Very truly yours,

MAN WHO DELIVERED MESSAGE TO GARCIA MAY RECEIVE MEDAL

Belated Recognition to be Accorded Colonel Rowan for Bravery

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif.—Lieutenant Colonel Andrew S. Rowan, retired, the man who carried the famous "message to Garcia" in 1898, during the Spanish-American war, will receive a belated recognition for bravery, if Senator Samuel F. Shortridge of California can bring it about. The senator has received assurances from Secretary of War Weeks that he will take up with the army board having jurisdiction the granting of a medal or of a distinguished service cross.

Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles ordered young Lieutenant Rowan to deliver a "message to Garcia." Discretion, initiative and bravery were required. Rowan did not ask who Garcia was, where he could be found or how to get there. Instead, he delivered the message to General Garcia in the interior of Cuba, where Garcia with his little band of patriots was almost surrounded by Spanish forces. Rowan knew that if the message were intercepted by the Spaniards he would be shot or hanged as a spy.

Garcia, heartened by the promise of aid from the United States, just entering the war with Spain, fought on, and the foe was overcome.

Lieutenant Rowan was cited by General Miles in dispatches to Washington as follows:

"This was a most perilous undertaking, and in my judgment Lieutenant Rowan performed an act of heroism and cool during that has rarely been excelled in the annals of warfare."

Rowan later was appointed lieutenant colonel of volunteers, and in 1908 was retired from the regular army with the rank of major. He resides in San Francisco.

GLOOM CHASERS

RUSSIA is importing only about $12,000,000 worth of goods a month. But she is steadily coming back as a world buyer. Not counting famine relief Russian imports now are around $5,000,000 a month, against 10,000,000 a year ago.

Germany is getting about half of Russia's orders. Great Britain is second.

MAIL MOVEMENT

Receipts of 50 leading postoffices now are nearly twice as big as in 1913. The gain is a tenth over a year ago but a trifle under two years ago. Stamp sales reflect parcel post shipments and letter campaigns for business.

RAILROADS

Idle freight cars still total about 500,000 in excess of "the 7 per cent line or normal." But the figure is slowly dropping again as coal movement grows.

The roads, so far this year, have bought nearly three times as many freight cars as in all of 1921.

AUTO EXPORTS

Auto industry now is exporting twice as many passenger cars and trucks as a year ago. Total auto exports are running over $1,000,000,000 a year, exceeding pre-war figures by a third.

No signs of a let-up in domestic sales. Factories are close to capacity, with no easing in parts and axle shortage. Chief danger in this industry now is over-production.

BUILDING BOOM

Big building boom is reflected in advancing prices. Brick prices have been moving up. Lumber market is stiffening as it becomes harder to get prompt shipments from mills. The large quantity scarcely is most acute in cheaper lumbers. Big buyers dominate the market. National lumber shipments exceed 100,000,000 feet a week for first time since the war, but even at that figure production is a fifth below orders.

Looks as if 1922 will set a new record for cement sales. Demand for road-building, exceptionally big.

STEEL MILLS BUSY

Steel mills in the Youngstown district are running close to four-fifths of capacity. The general steel industry reports shipments about 70 per cent capacity, although new orders are slowing down a trifle. Bookings are smaller than a month ago. Demand for railroad material and tin plate is excellent.

MATURITIES LIGHT

Corporation bonds maturing in June will total only about $39,000,000, against over $86,000,000 in June, 1921. Companies that lack sufficient surplus and will have to borrow to pay off their bond maturities are favored by easy money market.

Cocoon Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Multisided cocoon oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply put two or three (teaspoonfuls of Multisided in a cup or glass with a little warm water then moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Multisided cocoon oil shampoo at any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Multisided.

RIVOLI WEDNESDAY

With the public now out "shopping" for its screen entertainment, and willing to accept only the best, progressive improvement in the film industry is being made and the outlook is very promising, according to Norma Talmadge, who points to the recent organization of the Independent Screen Artists' Guild in California as one of the most significant developments of cinema history.

Miss Talmadge is one of the founders of the Guild, the announced object of which is the establishment of direct relations between the studios and the theaters of the country, with the idea of cutting middleman costs and thereby making it possible for producers to put money into better pictures.

Among the most pretensions of Guild productions is Norma Talmadge's "Smilin' Through," the first National attraction directed by Sidney Franklin and coming to the Rivoli Theater on Wednesday.

Norma plays the dual role of Moon-queen and Kathleen, the former a girl of the sixties and the latter a girl of modern times, each figuring in a romance of her particular period. The scenes are laid in Ireland, England and France. The costumes and settings are said to be among the most beautiful and striking ever shown in any motion picture.

Hope Hampton in "LOVE'S PENALTY"

Hope Hampton, in her latest production "Love's Penalty," has been secured for the Majestic Theater beginning Wednesday. The production is one that has created the most favorable sort of comment from critics who have viewed it; and it gives the beautiful young actress a far more dramatic role than any she has been accorded in previous productions.

Percy Marmont and Virginia Valli, who will be remembered favorably for the support they have given Miss Hampton in previous productions, also appear in "Love's Penalty." Jack O'Brien is the star's leading man in the production and Irma Harrison and Mrs. Phillip Landau are among others in the cast.

CASINO TODAY

Let the feminist movement wonder at will, there'll always be Jane Novak to console the masculine sex with her wistful gentleness and dainty feminine appeal. And the women turn to admire her in spite of their banners for the modern Portia. But of course Jane is deceiving. That soft, fragile beauty has cloaked her fixed determination to be a splendid emotional actress. The fact that she has risen to genuine stardom at the head of her own company in "Belle of Alaska," a heart and action drama of the roaring Yukon, shows how persistently she has worked to attain this level. "Belle of Alaska" is a typical Novak out-of-doors story. In her support appear such well known players as Noah Beery, J. Frank Glendon, Alfred Hollingsworth and Florence Carpenter.

STRAND TODAY

"Stunts are the easiest thing I do," said Fred Stone, a few days ago. "New songs come hard to me—songs and lines. I don't go bugs about them the way I do about athletic. Songs and lines are work—hard work—while stunts are stunts. That's fun."

Now Fred Stone is appearing at the Strand in "Billy Jim," his most recent motion picture production, and the stunts he loves so well today are one of the most interesting features of a very interesting photoplay.

RIVIERA TODAY

Morvich may have broken a record at Jamaica but Alert shatters some of his own in "Queen O' The Turf" at the Riviera tonight. Remember Man O' War? Well, Alert has the same fine lines, the same stout heart. Watch him go! "Queen O' The Turf" will lift you into a front seat in a towering grandstand and show you the greatest horse race you've ever seen. All you've got to do is buy a seat at the Riviera.

The worst cur in the world is a jockey who would throw a race, or a guy who would fix one. A "fixer" tries to get away with it in "Queen O' The Turf," but they get away with him instead.

All the great turf writers of the country saw this picture in New York and raved about it. They "spotted" Alert as one of the really great race horses of the world.

ILLINOIS MAN IS SHOT IN HOLD-UP OF BADGER HOTEL

KENOSHA, Wis.—William Snyder, age 37, Lake Villa, Ill., was shot and seriously wounded in a saloon brawl at Ideal Inn, south of Kenosha, late Sunday night. Romeo Moretti is in jail charged with firing two charges of buckshot into the legs of Snyder, who has more than forty wounds.

Moretti claimed that Snyder and two other men had attempted to hold up the place. Snyder and the members of the party claimed that the shooting came following an argument over drinks served. Moretti, Irwin Snyder, a son of the injured man, and Reemond Cloud, of Lake Villa, are in jail. Surgeons say that although Snyder has sixty-seven buckshot wounds, that he will recover.

UNDERTAKERS NEED NOT BE EMBALMERS HOLDS HIGH COURT

Supreme Court Overturns Law Passed at Last Session of Legislature

MADISON, Wis.—When the 1921 Wisconsin legislature passed a law requiring that funeral directors and undertakers be licensed embalmers before they could carry on their profession within the state, it acted unreasonably, the Wisconsin supreme court held Tuesday in deciding the statute to be unconstitutional. In this stand the opinion of Judge E. Ray Stevens in Dane county circuit court was upheld. It was the opinion of the court that there was no reason why dead persons could not be buried by other than embalmers, and took the stand that the legislature could not reasonably establish such a requirement.

CHICAGO BUILDING TRADES CLEAN UP; TO ACCEPT AWARDS

Peace in Strife-torn Industry in Windy City Seen as Probable Result

MADER WILL RESIGN AS HEAD OF COUNCIL

All of Unions Will Line up to Accept Pay Cuts

CHICAGO, Ill.—Peace in Chicago's strife-torn building trades situation was predicted Tuesday with reports that Fred Mader, indicted president of the Building Trades council, had agreed to resign and that all of the building trades unions would accept the Landis award.

These developments, it was said, cleared the way to unhampered completion of building projects amounting to $2,400,000,000.

Future policies of the building trades council, outlined at a meeting of union leaders Monday night, include the immediate election of a new president to succeed Mader, whose willingness to abdicate was expressed last night. Mader, however, had previously agreed with his bondsmen to relinquish leadership of council affairs along with "Big Tim" Murphy when the two were released from jail following their indictment in connection with recent bomb outrages and the slaying of two policemen.

Thomas S. Kearney, former president of the council, was prominently mentioned Monday as Mader's probable successor.

GREAT COMEDY AND MUSICAL SHOW IS ATTRACTION HERE

George White's Scandals Delights Good House at the La Crosse Theatre

It was to laugh. George White's Scandals with Ann Pennington and other stars scored a big hit at the La Crosse theatre Monday night in a musical and humorous melange which offered the greatest variety of entertainment seen here this year.

Recollections of the morning after bring to mind a brightly line-up of handsome girls in a well trained chorus, an array of principals which includes several of the country's best known entertainers, a wealth of special scenery, and a line of comedy running through the production which kept the house in an uproar.

Lou Holtz is the premier comedian of the company, and his comments on the show from an upper box was a particularly bright, side-splitting stunt.

Ann Pennington still possesses the limbs which made her famous, and her dances on the top of a huge drum and on a grand piano displayed to good advantage her cleverness and personal charms.

Victoria Herbert, who carried the principal singing part, charmed the house with a voice of great power and clearness which showed evidence of careful training. Her last song, "Drifting Along With the Tide," elicited repeated encores, and brought out to the fullest degree the splendid qualities of her voice.

Maxie and George are two of the greatest dancers ever seen in La Crosse. They carried the house by storm in their skit in the last act.

George White won his share of the plaudits as a comedian and dancer. There were various outstanding comedy features, including the divorce court, the school for scandal and Samson and Delilah ballet.

It was a top-notch finish for the regular La Crosse theater season.

VAN FLEET TO TRADE BOARD. WASHINGTON. — Vernon Van Fleet of Indiana was appointed a member of the federal trade commission Monday by President Harding and the nomination sent to the senate for confirmation.

STEAMER SAVES CONVICTS AND STOCK

The river steamer John B. Lewis played the part of an Ark when the Mississippi overflowed its banks at Angola, La., and flooded the 5000-acre prison farm of the state of Louisiana. A thousand convicts, hundreds of heads of horses, cattle and swine and many prison guards were in the path of the rushing water which spread over the plantation to a depth of from 10 to 20 feet.

The convicts reached a four-story sugar plant while the stock were driven to high spots on the land. Then during the onrush of water the big steamer, towing a barge, took men and stock safely to Baton Rouge.

The upper left picture shows a portion of the prison farm when the water was at its height. Below is the sugar plant and the steamer towing a barge. At the right the convicts aboard the barge being towed to Baton Rouge.

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—An alleged raid Saturday on the baggage and commissary cars of the special train carrying the members of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Mystic Shrine, to the Shriners' convention at San Francisco, Tuesday, developed into a mystery in federal circles and the state prohibition department when the dry agents issued a formal denial that any raid was staged by either of the prohibition forces.
